About Perry & Associates, LLC

Perry & Associates, LLC is a structural and architectural engineering firm providing a wide variety of design and technical consulting services. Clients range from architects, owners, property managers, insurance companies, government agencies, utilities, condominium associations, and attorneys.

Headquartered in Chicago the firm practices throughout the U.S. The firm, or its principals, are licensed in over 20 states and can be licensed in any state as required. Founded in 1998, the firms' principal engineers have over 30 years combined experience in structural engineering design.

We take pride in providing personal attention to defined services. Perry & Associates, LLC believes by effectively listening to client goals we create a set of services to benefit each project. We actively strive to be responsive, proactive, and work with a team focus to solve problems, maintain schedule, and provide excellent structural design.

Full services offered can range from preliminary schematic design through design development, construction documents, permitting, bidding, and construction administration. Specialized services can involve design of specialty elements, comparison of various configurations and structural materials, development of various concepts to address specific design challenges and peer review of various design elements.

Perry & Associates, LLC is nimble enough to provide the personal attention necessary to do quality design and consulting, yet large enough to provide outstanding service on every project. In-house and external training assists our staff in understanding the marketplace impact our services offer. Our belief is by understanding the entire design process we can anticipate and address challenges for our clients.
